

For K

You failed

A job interview is two way process, the recruiter can fail as well as the candidate. And you did fail.

Why? Let me explain. You said that there are only two people at the company at this time.

This was your major mistake. The real number of people is 3. And the 3rd you forgot is the most important one for the company at this time.

This person is you, K!

Your linkedin account says: FEB 2019, present, Berlin. You work for the company. In the matter of fact you are the only one at the company who works at the moment. And you are the only public face for the company. Those who look at the (not yet existing) company see only you and your linkedin profile.

You are the face of project X.

You want my “updated resume”? Here is what you have to-do to get it, step by step:

Step 1: You find 3 (at least two) photo studios that offer professional photo-shooting sessions. You visit them and ask for photo-session appointment and initial consulting how to prepare. They will do the make-up, but they may have some hints for preparation as well. Ask them for “all inclusive” price. Changing clothing 2 times should be sufficient. Get the price estimate!

Step 2: Find the damn most exclusive beauty parlor in the city, and go there with the following story (you can modify it a little): you need a voucher as a gift for someone very dear to you for “all inclusive” treatment, money is no object (you are not paying, but you authorize the amount), let them explain what they have to offer. Get the price estimate!

Step 3: Find a hair-dresser where you can pay at least 2x time more than you have ever paid before for a hair-cut. Get the price estimate!

Step 4: If the sum of price estimates from step 1 to 3 is less 500 EUR start over again until you reach 500. You can add additional cost items as required.

Step 5: Contact one of the others, saying that you want to update your linkedin in profile picture, and that based on preliminary estimates you have been able to reduce the total amount for the company to as low as [insert sum of step 1 to 3 here] EUR.

Step 6: If you fail to get the authorization for the amount you asked, then the company has failed.

Step 7: Should it happen, you can give me your PayPal account, I'll wire you 500 EUR if you promise that you will get the voucher for the beauty parlor and go there!

My Resume

Electronics since 1979

Married once and forever

Antti Lukats, Bünde Germany, May 12, 2019